

FILM PROGRAM

Mother Earth

2018, France, 6 minutes
Filmmaker: Damien Vergez, FASTFOKUS

Narrated by Daniel Wells, a member of Lil'wat First Nation, the film showcases the deep connection both bikers and First Nations have with nature and the necessity to listen and protect their environment.

Pretty Strong – Fernanda

2019, USA, 17 minutes
Filmmaker: Colette McInerney, Julie Ellison, Leslie Hittmeier, Never Not Collective

In this segment of Never Not Collective's feature length film, we follow Fernanda Rodriguez in El Salto, Mexico, as she runs a campground, owns a climbing gym, and picks her hardest climbing objective in 5 years.

The Long Today

2020, Canada, 17 minutes
Filmmaker: Niobe Thompson, Handful of Films

My Dad turned 70 this summer. So he found a "river" on a map, repaired one of his old wood canoes, and invited his family to help him celebrate the big day. Only a few of us showed up.

12 000 km

2019, Sweden, 28 minutes
Filmmaker: Erik Nylander, Firma Erik Nylander
Advisory: Coarse language

The prevailing climate threat inspires a group of Swedish friends to travel by train and ferry from Stockholm all the way to Japan, in search of deep powder and the adventure of a lifetime.

Zeppelin Skiing (Tour Edit)

2019, Austria, 5 minutes
Filmmaker: Stefan Ager, Andreas Gumpenberger, Lensecape Productions

It's a world first: three athletes fly with a huge zeppelin to the Eastern Alps in Austria to abseil and ski and snowboard on steep terrain.

Fly Spiti – The Short Odyssey

2020, Belgium, 25 minutes
Filmmaker: Benoit Delfosse, Thomas de Dorlodot, Search Projects

Two of the most experienced paragliding pilots engage in exploration of the Spiti Valley in the Indian Himalaya. The pair find out why few have tried to fly in this place where, according to local folklore, the gods live.

Silks

2020, Canada, 4 minutes
Filmmaker: James Frystak

Driven by the powerful movements of three Squamish adventure athletes, stunning locations and hair raising exposure, Silks showcases the art of aerial silk performance in a way never seen before.

Frozen in Time

2020, USA, 16 minutes
Filmmaker: Benjamin Sanford, Matchstick Productions

Lured by the vibe of a bygone era in skiing, three of the sport's pre-eminent stars – Eric Hjørleifson, Mark Abma and Chris Rubens – venture to Mt. Cain, a small, community-run hill on northern Vancouver Island, BC.
